Sustainability

In our sourcing of materials, we strive to choose suppliers that consider environmental & health impacts, product quality, M1 (the term stands for low emissions), Class A sound absorbing and fire safety.

When selecting our materials, we also consider the eco-ratings and certifications our material suppliers have received.

Why are eco-ratings and certifications so important?

Eco ratings help our customers and stakeholders make responsible choices and provide important information about materials.

Optimisation of our logistics, we strive to reduce transport emissions, both in the ordering of raw materials and the delivery of finished products to our customers.

At our factory and at all our sites, we recycle waste such as cardboard and paper separately.
